

Developer Choices and Trends: Insights from the Embedded Vision Alliance's Computer Vision Developer Survey

Jeff Bier, Founder, Embedded Vision Alliance / BDTI

The Embedded Vision Alliance conducts an annual survey of computer vision system and application developers' technology choices and challenges. This survey focuses on product developers working in industry, and examines key trends in adoption of processors, algorithms, sensors and software tools. In this poster, we present insights from the latest version of this survey.